I do not want it and it gets very annoying to constantly see it pop up 3 or 4 times a minute. An additional point of interest that numerous individuals find from dating online is the expense. You can see when someone is online, you can add people as friends, you can message people, you can see if they read your message, it tells you when someone is online or not, and it sends you email alerts when you get new messages or views. I don't even need to use the search option and can barely keep up with my inbox. Warning — content has not yet been rated. But after that I haven't found any one else on here even worth really talking to. The site is easy to use and quick to navigate. Fref been using regularly for 3 months now. The forums are good, the messaging is free, lots of users, good community, and lots of things to talk about. You can contact members easily too. Thats really the only complaint i have. Do not waste your caed there are plenty of other site that actually work. Unrated apps may potentially contain content appropriate for mature audiences only. The only reason i didn't give it five 100 free dating sites no credit card uk is because it doesn't tell you when you have a message and even after you delete one you have datjng delete it over and over before it is actually deleted. Leave me alone with this crap. First off there are so many fake profiles and spammers on here. Impressive I found this site by accident and gave it a try. Do it or don't, but if you don't, I promise you will continue losing customers. It has a very major bug Absolutely refuses to allow me to post on sitds forum in the app and site. I should recommend this dating site to anyone thats searching for love. How do they expect to have a successful application if you can't add picture's Dead This site died a couple years ago. Great app for making friends. Regular User This app and this site is phenominal. Other than these two minor things this app is great! Until I see that it is fixed, and I stop hearing that customer support is nonexistent, I am uninstalling this app and not using the site. I've been using regularly for 3 months now.
